Underdeveloped Mouth and Jaws

Crooked or crowded teeth in children is often the result of underdeveloped upper and lower jaws. Such children often have difficulty breathing at night. A lack of a good nights sleep may lead to serious health concerns.

The Vivos System promotes the natural growth and proper positioning of the teeth, mouth and jaws.

The Vivos system may be able to prevent the need for braces for many children

Crowded teeth may be an indication of a more serious developmental issue.

The Vivos System includes comfortable, easy-to-wear oral appliances, worn mainly at night.

The most important stages of growth for your child's face and jaws occurs during childhood.

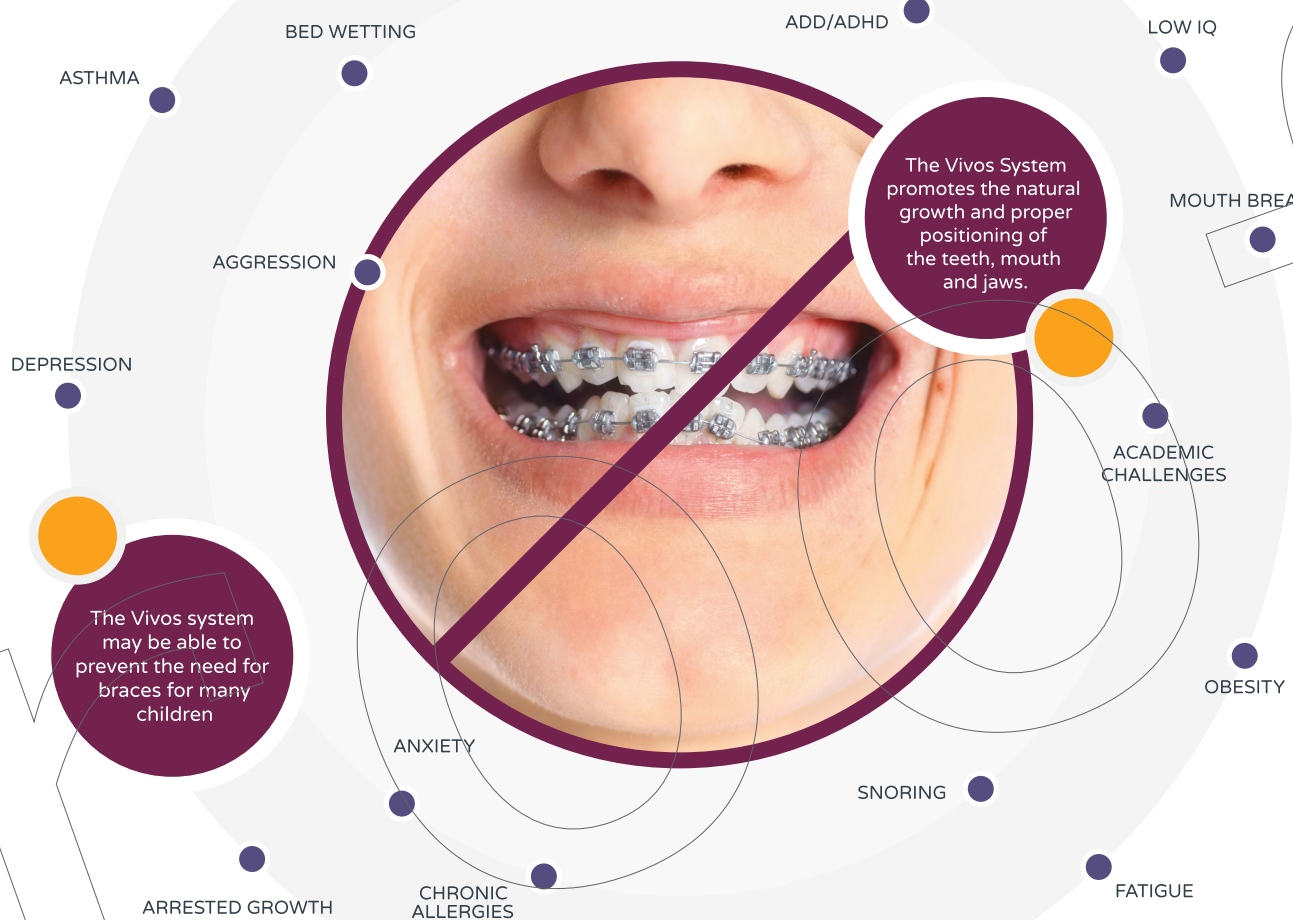

It's not your fault.

Bad habits and other environmental conditions may cause the jaws to develop incorrectly.

Early diagnosis and treatment may improve your child's overall health and wellness and may prevent future problems.

Your child's body is beautifully unique and every Vivos experience is unique.

A Vivos provider can help you understand if your child is a good candidate for The Vivos System.

By correcting the underlying developmental issues in the mouth and jaws, the need for braces may be eliminated and both current and future health concerns may be avoided.

If your child is showing the early signs of an underdeveloped jaw; crooked or crowded teeth, mouth breathing, bed wetting or even restless sleep, we invite you to schedule a consultation with your Vivos provider today.
